Canadian Association of Radiologists (CAR):

Consensus Guidelines for the Prevention of Contrast-Induced Nephropathy.

As a result of a miscommunication, the incorrect version of the above mentioned guideline was published in the printed version of the CARJ volume 58 no 2, April 2007 issue. Please refer to the CARJ and (CAR) websites for the updated version.

Contrast Agent products are rapidly evolving and new research is being published regularly, as a consequence these guidelines will be revised by the authors this fall.

We do apologize for any inconvenience this error has caused.

Sincerely,

Dr. Craig Coblenz
